

Anne Goon, MS, RD, LD Executive Director of the Public Health Services Council of Ohio, has over 35 years of leadership experience in public health and healthcare settings, including 12 years as a health commissioner. She's assisted health departments of all sizes in their accreditation journeys. In her current role, Anne leads efforts to build health department capacity to provide foundational public health services, which include policy development and support. Anne has bachelor's and master's degrees in allied medicine and a Certificate in Public Health Management and Leadership, all from The Ohio State University.