

Bill Franks, MPH After having received a BS in Biology from Kent State University, Bill then served Ohio Public Health for 42 years before he retired. He started as a sanitarian with the Lake County Health Department then moved on to the Ohio Department of Health. After completing his MPH at the University of Minnesota he came back to Ohio to become the Health Commissioner of the Columbiana County Health Department. In 1983 he became the Health Commissioner of the Stark County Health Department for 29 years before his retirement in 2012. Shortly after his retirement he joined Kent State University College of Public Health as a Public Health Ambassador and part-time faculty. He still holds that position.