

Aram Dobalian, PhD, JD, MPH is Professor and Chair of the Division of Health Services Management and Policy at The Ohio State University College of Public Health, and Director of the Center for Public Health Practice. His research focuses on the impact of natural and human-caused disasters and other large-scale emergencies on health systems and population health. He was the founding director of a Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) research center focused on disaster preparedness, and led the center for 14 years.