

Maalinii Vijayan, MPH, REHS Maalinii Vijayan serves as the Assistant Health Commissioner of Community Health Services for Clermont County Public Health, overseeing community health services programs, including WIC, nursing, harm reduction, injury prevention, and other public health programs. She holds a bachelor's degree in Dentistry from India and a Master of Public Health from Wright State University. With about 15 years of experience in public health, Ms. Vijayan brings a strong background in emergency response, environmental health, and community health program management. Ms. Vijayan plays a key role in community health assessments, community health improvement plan development, accreditation processes, and strategic planning, ensuring that initiatives are data-driven, collaborative, and aligned with community priorities to improve population health outcomes.